VERY GOOD LOCAL TRADE

THE PAST WEEK SATISFACTORY IN ALL BUSINESS LINES.

Produce and Potatoes Continue Unduly High-First Car of New Wheat Shows Very Good Weight.

Trade in the week ended on June 28 was fully other roarkets, although prices vary somewhat | 65c per box. with quality of goods offered. Some very fair apples are offered. Watermelons are small and still move slowly, but canteloupes are in better supply, and some very choice fruit is offered and sells quite well. More pincapples have been sold for canning purposes than in any former year, and they have come more extensively into every-day table use. Bananas are in good supply and are seiling at the usual figures. The fore. Produce merchants do not look for lower prices for some time to come, so active is the painted, $3.10. demand. Young chickens are in better supply. but with an active demand there are no acculations of stock that would tend to break to 5c higher than in June of last year, and butter has never before ruled so steady and firm as for three months past. Each week dealers lock for a decline, but it does not materialize. Staple groceries rule the same as a week ago. Coffees in primary markets are essier, but in this market are unchanged. Sugars are steady, but are coming into more general consumption and it causes surprise that prices continue the same. It is between seasons with the dry goods houses, the boot and shoe merchants and the milliners, but an improvement is looked for next month. Iron and hardware are very active, with prices very firm but unchanged. Other markets move along in the same rut as for some time

Indianapolis Grain Market.

The week closed with strong prices for all cereals. Receipts of corn were 43 cars on Saturday. The first carload of new wheat was offered. It was sold to J. R. Gray, and weighed pounds to the bushel. # THE LIVE STOCK MARKETS CATTLE IN SMALL SUPPLY, SELLING AT BARELY STEADY PRICES.

Lower-Sheep Quiet-Condition of Markets Elsewhere.

Thus far this year the receipts are nearly 25,500 larger than the same period last year. So far as the fat dry-fed stock are concerned, the market has been quite satisfactory to the selling interests. There was a very liberal marketing of good tive competition between buyers. A satisfactory clearance of all kinds had been made at the close of the week and there seemed to be a very healthy feeling prevailing in the market for choice cattle. While there were no steers here for, a small bunch sold as high as $7.85 and full loads as high as $7.75. Heifers sold up to $6.25, cows $5.50, bulls $5 and calves $7. There were not many fresh arrivals to-day, and, as usual at this time in the week, the was necessarily quiet. Buyers were inclined to want prices a little lower, and it is possible that sales were not quite as high as yesterday, but as good as expected on Saturday. Quotations:

> Hogs-Receipts, 2,500. This week's receipts of hogs show a decrease of nearly 2,000 compared with last week, 2,500 compared with the week a year ago and nearly ,500 compared with the corresponding week two years ago. Thus far this year the receipts are 98,000 smaller than the same period last year. For the week ending yesterday the leading local packers bought a total of 14.119 against 17.722 the preceding week and 18,942 the same week a year ago. During the same period the shipments were 12,469 against 5,854 the preceding week and 6,096 the corresponding week a year ago. The trade this week has been the most unsatisfactory that salesmen have experienced for many months. Prices have been exceedingly irregular and a few days in the week it was impossible to effect a clearance even at lower prices. Packers have been very indifferent, aparently many times not caring for the offerings at any price, and only for a considerable increase in the shipping demand, which was the largest since the first week in January, the market no doubt would have shown a dilapidated condition. The early part of the of the week prices suffered another decline the close of last week. Twice in the week satisfactory throughout the week and there has been a fair number of extra good kinds were possibly not to exceed 5c off, but soon in exceptional cases a decline of 15c was re- | ing lips. ported. Therefore, the market was anyabout 10c below yesterday's average. A satisfactory clearance was finally made, but the market closed quiet and it is evident that buyers are expecting a lower market next week. Sales ranged from $6.90@7.65, and very few were below $7.05.

Sheep and Lambs-Receipts small. The receipts of sheep and lambs this week have been small, showing a decrease of over 1,800 compared with last week, over 800 compared with the same week'a year ago and over 100 compared with the corresponding week two years ago. The receipts thus far this year show an increase of nearly 13,000 over the same period last year. On account of the small supplies there has been no urgent competition between buyers this week and with a lack of animation the market has displayed more or less weakness at all times. The quality also was not the best and on account of conditions existing elsewhere buyers here were inclined to press the market most of the time. The receipts were not a great deal larger than required to meet the demands of local butchers and on that account salesmen succeeded in maintaining a comparatively steady average in prices. At the extreme close of the week there was a slight tendency toward a stronger market and some few sales were reported at higher prices but it was believed that this was due to the continued small supply of good stock. The highest sales this week were $6.25 for lambs, $4.25 for yearlings and $3.75 for sheep. A small number arrived for the market to-day and the trading was quiet at quotably unchanged prices compared with yesterday. Lambs sold at $406 and sheep at $3@3.50. Three or four years ago the suggestion of anything less formal than the starched white shirt and high collar was received with horror. Now the soft shirt is the almost universal hot weather wear. The shirtwaist controversy, which raged all last summer, has not sprung up yet this year, but by the first of July the right of a man to go about his business and into most restaurants without a coat will be conceded. Primitive People Had Beliefs Which Still Survive in Legend-Prayer and Good Wishes.

Pall Mall Gazette.

The custom of uttering a good wish when times, and, according to Strada, the practice originated from a belief among the ancients of the danger attending the act of sneezing, it being the habit in those days for the person sneezing to offer a short prayer to the gods, such as "Jupiter, help me." Afterward it became the rule for the bystanders to offer a prayer, this being usually "God bless you!" for the benefit of the sneezer, a person who sneezed being at one time supposed to be under the influence of fairies and demons, and, as the name of upply has been about like the average, Ged repelled all evil spirits, the benediction of "God bless you!" drove away the demons and counteracted their influence. Among the ancients, Homer and Pliny likewise refer to the custom, as do the Jewish rabbis and others, the legend of the Hebrews being to the effect that when Adam and Eve sinned in the Garden of Eden it was decreed that man should die by sudden death, ending in a fit of sneezing, which he indulged in so few of the evidences of would probably be induced by the sweat of man's brows being checked by a chill. But to be numbered among the very rich men Jacob-evidently set back a few years for of New York. the benefit of the story-saw this terrible state of affairs, and fought with the angel over the point as to whether men should fall to pieces when they sneeze. Jacob gained the victory, but the angel made a condition that the sneeze should only prove fatal when the standers-by omitted the words "God bless you! The custom of saluting the sneezer, before referred to, was one which the ancient Greeks claimed to have derived from Prometheus, who stole celestial fire to animate his newly made figure of clay, tradition asserting that as the fire permeated its frame the figure sneezed, rested the man and charged him with diswhich caused Prometheus to invoke blessings upon it. Be this as it may, the practice dates from the most ancient days, Aristotle having a reference to it; while we know that the Greek custom was followed by the old Romans, and at the present day given above.

IN OUR OWN DAY.

Coming now to our own country, it is somewhat quaint and interesting to find a superstition of the sort still existing in these so-called enlightened days of universal education in our own midst, it being still the custom in the midlands when a child sneezes for the granddams to cry out, "God help you!" while it is also a very common belief that any one who sneezes three times before breakfast will shortly receive a present of some time, this superstition taking no account of the chilliness of the early morning. AMONG SAVAGE TRIBES. Glancing now at the customs of savage nations or races in this connection, we find that in the Solomon islands when a baby sneezes it is believed by the natives that its ancestors and the gods are endeavoring to snatch away its soul. The Maoris, of New Zealand, look upon a sneeze as a good omen, it being considered as a sign from the spirits of their ancestors, and also when naming a baby they repeat all the names in their vocabulary till the infant sneezes, then bestow on the youngster that name, bolieving that the sneeze is a sign that the child will bring credit to its family and kill a sufficient number of men to justify his eyes being converted into stars when he | ting pole tightly and said: dies. Among the Zulus when a sick child sneezes they say "Grow," and when the adults of this tribe sneeze they utter a prayer for what they require most, or for long life; while the Khonds regard the sneeze as a divine act, and do not look upon a priest as being properly constituted such till he has sneezed. The Hulling Machine is a narrow passage between jagged ledges in the river where the water fairly boils. Scarcely a log passes through this gorge without losing INDIANAPOLIS & GREENFIELD RAPID every shred of its bark, and that is why the place is called the Hulling Machine. All adventure-loving boys will be sorry to earn that Robinson Crusoe's island, Juan Fernandez, is now the site of a flourishing canning establishment. Mr. Mansfield, our consul at Valparaiso, has written to the Department of State about it. The Chilean republic, which owns the island, will soon provide it with a local government and make it a province. It is situated six hundred miles west of Valparaiso, and is fifteen miles long by eight miles wide. Mansfield says: "There are quantities of lobsters, crabs and excellent food fishes in the water. The lobsters are large, of excellent flavor and especially suited to canning. They are easily caught and the supply seems inexhaustible. The cost of securing them is nominal. There are also a large number of fur seals on Fernandez. There is plenty of fresh water on the island; land can be acquired by settlers without cost; fruit and vegetables grow wild and can be easily cultivated, which makes the cost of living Diend, 220; fancy blend, 120; fancy fancy blend, 120; fancy fancy
